

DEMOCRATIC CLUB MAKES N.R.A. CANVAS OF ANTIOCH HOMES

Serbian Monastery Park to
Be Scene of Meet
Sept. 10

An active house to house canvass in the interests of the N.R.A. consumer campaign was started Monday by the Antioch Democratic club, and is continuing throughout the week. Marked enthusiasm for the recovery act has been shown among Antioch householders, according to officials of the club who state that six signatures were secured in the first fifteen minutes of the drive. Frank and Howard Mastae and George Phillips have been directing the work.

Consumers who sign the pledge to cooperate in the recovery act promise to support and patronize the employers who are observing the rules of the industrial code. It is pointed out, however, by national leaders, that no unfair advantage is intended over those business firms which, for some reason, are unable to place the terms of the code in effect in their businesses.

Instructions and membership cards were supplied the local club by the Bureau of Public Relations at Washington. Consumers signing the pledge to co-operate in the movement for recovery are given eagle badges to place in their windows, and buttons to wear, which are stamped with the eagle and the words, "Volunteer" and "We Do Our Part."

Members of the Democratic Club plan to assign a canvasser to each block in the village and visit every home. The cards on which signatures are secured read: "I will co-operate in re-employment by supporting and patronizing employers and workers who are members of the N.R.A."

State Fair Awards Scott Products for General Excellence

Third place for excellence in the all-dairy products class was awarded at the Illinois State Fair last week to the exhibit entered by the Scott Dairy, owned and operated here by Walter Scott. Flavor, odor, appearance and neatness of the packages were points on which the excellence was determined.

The entry of the Scott Dairy included milk, butter, buttermilk and cottage cheese. All these products, produced in the local plant, are made from pasteurized milk which has received the greatest care in handling, according to Mr. Scott.

The dairy, which serves a wide patronage through the lake territory, is equipped with the latest machinery for handling and marketing milk. Nine trucks are operated in distributing the products to the customers in the trade area.

Mr. Scott sells Golden Guernsey milk among his other products. Milk, must be sold under this label, must meet the standards of the American Guernsey Cattle Club of Peterboro, N. H., which licenses farms selling this grade of milk.

BUSINESS COME-BACK INDICATED AT BANK, S. B. NELSON STATES

Brook Also Expresses His Belief in Recovery

Deposits at the First National Bank during the past month have indicated that local business firms are enjoying a slight upturn in business, according to S. Boyer Nelson, cashier, who feels confident that a business at present is making a come-back.

Mr. Nelson foresees a hard winter ahead for the village but prophesies that it will be no worse, if not better than last winter. "We should be feeling the influence of the increased activity in larger centers by that time," he stated.

Brook Sees Improvement
Although less optimistic about conditions in the near future, J. Ernest Brook, president of the State Bank of Antioch stated that he believes business is slowly recovering, especially in Chicago, and that eventually the improvement in conditions will be felt here. He sees a definite increase in public confidence during the past few months.

All the earmarks of a good summer next year are visible at the present time, Mr. Nelson states, explaining that Chicago has collected millions during this summer, but people were too tied down to take vacations. Next year he believes that the metropolitan people will be taking vacations and spending their money, of which Antioch will receive a share.

N.R.A. Influence
He sees the N.R.A. as a material influence in the increase of business. "Financial journals," he states, "report that the employment of more workers, and the division of work has already put money into circulation because the man who is getting $200 a month will not spend as much as two men making $100 a month. In four or five months this influence will be felt in Antioch."

"Additional employment will probably save this winter from being the ordeal that last winter was," Mr. Nelson states. "However, January and February will probably be tough months."

Poor systems of collection are blamed by Mr. Nelson for the difficulties which are experienced by many merchants at the present time.

25 LABOR GROUPS AND FARMERS TO ATTEND PICNIC

Serbian Monastery Park to
Be Scene of Meet
Sept. 10

Preparations for a mammoth picnic of farmers and urban workers to be held at the Serbian Monastery Park, Milwaukee Avenue, Sunday, September 10, under the auspices of the Lake County Local Action Committee of the Illinois Congress of Farmers and Workers, are well under way. Leaders of the latter organization announced. The picnic is to be the first of the kind ever held in this community, and a large crowd is expected to attend, inasmuch as some twenty-five labor groups, etc., are represented on the local committee.

An elaborate program with games and including a tug of war between a team composed entirely of farmers and another made up of city workers, has been arranged for the day. Two speakers of national prominence will also appear on the program. As a further attraction three prize prizes will be awarded.

The Lake County Committee was permanently organized three weeks ago, following the Illinois Convention of the Continental Congress, which was held in Springfield July 22 and 23. Among the Lake County organizations affiliated are the Co-operative Unemployed Leagues of the county, the Waukegan and North Chicago Co-operative Societies, labor unions, and a number of fraternal and educational groups.

Retailer Is Faced With Cotton Tax Problem, Sept. 30

Certificates Showing Payment of Tax Are Received by Merchants

Merchants who sell cotton goods or any product containing cotton, are confronted with the problem of figuring their federal floor tax on cotton for the period ending Aug. 31, within the next few weeks. The tax, payable only once in this manner, is due under the Industrial Recovery Act which will establish a fund for compensating cotton growers for limiting production.

Given Until Sept. 30
All cotton goods, bought by the retailer after Aug. 1, is subject to the tax which is paid by the manufacturer. Merchandise which was on hand Aug. 1, and has not been sold by Aug. 31, will be subject to the floor tax which is paid by the retailers. Merchants are given until Sept. 30 to complete their returns on the tax and file their records with the amount due.

Considerable confusion exists even at this late date as to the application of the tax, and in some cases, manufacturing houses are invoicing goods and leaving the tax to be added to a later invoice, because of their inability at the present time to accurately compute the amount due on the merchandise.

Reports Surdenome
The task of making reports is made doubly burdensome by the fact that the tax is payable by the pound, and therefore, all cotton articles or articles containing cotton, must be weighed and the amount of foreign fabric or material, subtracted from the total. The problem is being considerably simplified, however, according to local merchants who state that manufacturing houses are sending information as to the weight of cotton in articles sold by them.

August Brings First Lull in Affairs of Village Since May

August has been a vacation month for trustees of the village who have enjoyed the first lull in government affairs during the past month, since last March, convening only at the scheduled monthly meeting. Since the beginning of the fiscal year, May 1, members of the board have held thirteen meetings, all but three of which were special adjourned meetings. August is the first month since March when no extra meeting has been held. Regulations for the sale of beer and matters of municipal finance have been the chief cause of the added sessions. The lull of the past month will be broken next Tuesday with the regular September meeting of the board scheduled.

FIRE CAUSES $13,000 DAMAGE AT STEPHENS MILLBURN FARM TODAY

Total Value of Buildings
Is $45,000; Four
Burn

Fire which broke out in the hayloft of a barn on the Bell Stephens and Sons Millburn Brown Swiss Farm late this morning caused a $13,000 loss to buildings, hay, grain and machinery. Four buildings, the haybarn, the dairy barn, the tool shed and the granary, were destroyed.

Antioch fire volunteers, called shortly before noon, were successful in checking the blaze in time to prevent it from spreading to other buildings on the property which have a total value of $45,000, according to Sam Tarbell, fire official.

Nine hundred bushels of grain which was stored in the granary was saved by keeping water trained on it while the building in which it was housed burned to the ground. Livestock housed in the dairy barn was also saved from damage.

The cause of the fire could not be determined, although men were working in the haybarn at the time the blaze broke out. Workmen were cleaning the building this morning in preparation for whitewashing it when the fire was discovered in the peak of the hayloft. Firemen were occupied in putting out the fire for about three hours from the time they were called.

KRAHL SAYS CODE WILL INCREASE BASIC MILK SALE

Will Eliminate Cut-Prices,
He States at Farm
Picnic

Adoption of the milk code of the agricultural adjustment act, should mean that Chicago distributors will purchase at least 130 per cent of basic milk, rather than the 90 per cent now purchased, A. M. Krahl, official of the Pure Milk Association stated in a speech Tuesday afternoon at the County farm picnic held at Cedar Crest Country Club.

Elimination of cut price competition, which "has made it impossible for the milk dealer to go along with the association because he couldn't pay the regular price and meet the price of those who undersell," was an advantage of the code cited by Mr. Krahl, as he contradicted the criticism that the code was written by Chicago milk dealers, exclusively for their benefit.

FROM VAGABONDING TO DISCIPLINE

Those days of happy abandon, lived aimlessly with neither thought nor care for time, have come to the end. There will be Saturdays and holidays which will bring release, but the glamour of completely informal pleasure has vanished for another year. Days of vagabonding, whether in a conventional back-yard or on country paths, have filled the short months for these "teen" and under children whose eyes are not yet dulled to the ecstatic loveliness of the world which the large majority of their elders miss.

And now, we say, they will resume their education. Books and teachers, schoolrooms with blackboards, will give life the purpose which was absent in the vagabonding. Figures and geographical locations and grammatical constructions will replace idle questionings of why butterflies' wings are dusty and the sky filled with stars only at night.

True this new routine will bring discipline, which is a necessary preparation for adult life, and a foundation on which to seek answers to satisfy a curious mind. It will bring indispensable knowledge, and lessons in co-operative living.

But it isn't a beginning of learning after these past months. All normal minds learn whether receiving formal instruction or no. The child, left to his own resources through vacation months, in his groping will learn lessons which could not be taught in the classroom. His mind has been given a new perspective from which to start his attack on classroom learning.

The new school term should mean for every child a new start. The child who has found school irksome, who has made slow progress, should be given every opportunity to find himself. Four hundred and fifty of them, from the first grade age to the sublime dignity of the senior class, will be returning next Tuesday to school routine, ready to meet the requirements of formal education half way. The turn from vagabonding to discipline will be a profitable change in the utmost sense for the child only if he is given the best opportunity which the co-operative efforts of parent and teacher can give him to build a foundation for adult living.

LABOR DAY

There is a perennial nobleness and even sacredness in work. Were a man ever so benighted, or forgetful of his high calling, there is always hope in him who actually and earnestly works; in idleness alone is there perpetual despair. Consider how even in the meanest sort of labor, the whole soul of a man is composed into real harmony. He bends himself with free valor against his task; and doubt, desire, sorrow, remorse, indignation, despair, itself shrink murmuring, far off into their caves. The glow of labor in him is a purifying fire, wherein all poison is burnt up, and of smoke itself, there is made a bright and blessed flame.

Blessed is he who has found his work; let him ask no other blessedness; he has a life purpose. Labor is life. From the heart of the worker rises a celestial force breathed into him by Almighty God, awakening him to all nobleness, to all knowledge. Hast thou value patience, courage, openness to light, or readiness to own thy mistakes. In wrestling with the dim brute powers of Fate, thou wilt continually learn. For every noble work, the possibilities are diffused through immensity—undiscoverable, except to Faith.

Man, sin of Heaven, is there not in thine inmost heart a spirit of active method, giving thee no rest till thou unfold it? Complain not. Look up, wearied brother. See thy fellow swimming through eternity—workmen swimming through eternity—the sacred hand of immortals!

—Thomas Carlyle.

INTEREST LAGS IN GOVERNMENT WHEAT
ALLOTMENT PROGRAMSmall Crowd Attends Meeting at High School Recently

A small gathering including less than a dozen farmers attended the wheat growers' meeting called at the Antioch Township High School recently by H. O. Glickerson, Lake County agricultural advisor, to explain the government's wheat program under the National Recovery Act.

Lack of interest in the allotment plan which would cut supply and pay growers a compensation on every bushel, is attributed to the fact that little wheat is grown in this section, most farmers raising only what is needed for their own consumption, according to a member of the county committee, George White.

No Applications Made
No applications for wheat allotment contracts were made at the recent meeting, and few contracts have been signed in other sections of the county where meetings have been held. It is expected that many will wait to submit their applications until later in the campaign. No definite closing date has been announced for submitting the applications, but it is expected that the campaign will close the early part of September.

Although small acreage is no barrier to receiving the compensation of approximately 28 cents on a bushel among farmers who have signed the contracts restricting their production, in cases where the amount grown is only sufficient to meet their own demands, reducing the acreage would necessitate buying wheat for home use.

DIDN'T WANT TO STARVE

When the New Deal Carnival was showing in Washington not long ago, a young man applied to the manager of one of the side show outfits and the following conversation took place:

"Who are you?"
"I am Exmont the Egg King."
"What's your specialty?"
"I eat three dozen hen's eggs, two dozen duck eggs and one dozen geese eggs, all at one sitting."
"Do you know our program?"
"What is it?"
"We give four shows every day."
"Oh, yes, I understand that."
"And you think you can do it?"
"I know I can."
"On Saturdays we give six shows."
"That's O. K. with me."
"On holidays we usually give a performance every hour."
"In that case, I must have one thing plainly understood before I will be willing to sign a contract."
"What is it?"
"Well, I always have a good appetite, and I want you to agree that no matter what the rush of business you have for the show, you've got to give me time to go to a restaurant and get my regular meals."

HELPFUL HINTS

When applying varnish brush only in one direction with the grain of the wood.
Gas house tar is one of the best and cheapest sprays to control poultry mites. Old crank case oil is also an effective spray.
Lard has the greatest shortening power of any of the plastic edible fats.
Can some fruit juices for making drinks and for flavoring in cooking.
Strong soap and boiling water may take the decorations off your china. Use mild soap and medium hot water.
A curtain rod placed in the bottom hem of freshly laundered curtains for several days will straighten them out nicely.
Gasoline makes the task of cleaning paint brushes easier. But be wary of using the poisonous kind.

What He Says Goes

One can imagine the surprise of Vira Knickerbocker of Chicago to find out that the accommodating young man who helped her start her bulky auto was none other than Prince Carl of Sweden, who was visiting the World's Fair.

"Young McShurt has just sold a poem to Scribner's Magazine. It is called 'Ode to a Fair Lady.'"
"Is that so? He would have done better to have called it 'Ode to a Landlady.'"

Bad Example

"Josh," said the farmer to his son, "I wish you'd eat off to yourself instead of with the summer boarders. If you don't mind."
"Ain't my society good enough for 'em?" asked the son, riling up.
"Your society is all right," explained the farmer, "but your appetite tells them a terrible example."

Henry—What do you think of a man who will constantly deceive his wife?
Milton—I think he's a wonder.

Beer Brings Business

THE widespread sale of beer in our larger cities has brought with it a great improvement in the food business, especially in those foods which one traditionally associated with a taste for beer. One of the dishes that goes well with beer is a rabbit, the recipe for which calls for butter, cheese, mustard, catsup, bread or crackers, and a number of other ingredients, and there has been an improvement in many places in the demand for all these foods. Here are a couple of good recipes for putting them together.

Two Rarebits

Red Rarebit: Melt two tablespoons butter, add two cups grated cheese, one-half teaspoon mustard, salt and paprika, and stir till just melted. Add one-half cup milk or cream and one-half cup catsup, and stir till smooth and hot. Avoid boiling, and serve at once on toasted crackers or toast with a stripe of bacon on top. Serves four.

Tomato Rarebit with Eggs: Sauté five minutes the contents of one No. 2½ can tomatoes, one-half teaspoon soda, one and one-fourth teaspoons salt, and one-half teaspoon pepper and press through a sieve. Add three tablespoons cold water, smooth together and stir until it thickens. Add one and one-half cups grated cheese, and stir till melted. Slice eight hard-cooked eggs over buttered toast, and pour over the sauce. Serves eight.

It present plans are carried out, an improvement will be made in the lake region near Antioch within the next year, which will cost from $40,000 to $50,000 and when it is finished the value of property in the territory affected will have been enhanced perhaps $100,000 or more. The improvement is the biggest and most important ever contemplated in Lake County's lake region. It includes:

1. Dredging out the creek to a navigable state, which runs from the lakes to a point near the Antioch depot, thus making passage to Lake Marie via boat direct from Antioch village.
2. The erection of a large dam and flood gates between Lake Marie and Grass Lake.
3. Construction of a dam at the bridge at Nippersink which will take the place of the Fox River dam at McHenry which has not produced the result expected when it was built but which, on the contrary, has flooded farm land to the anger of the farmers.

"Christ Jesus" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, August 27.

The Golden Text was, "No man hath seen God at any time; the only begotten Son, which is in the bosom of the Father, he hath declared him" (John 1:18).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "For we have not followed cunningly devised fables, when we made known unto you the power and coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, but were eye-witnesses of his majesty. For he received from God the Father honour and glory, when there came such a voice to him from the excellent glory, 'This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased'" (II Peter 1:16, 17).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Christ expresses God's spirit, eternal nature. The same is synonymous with Messiah, and alludes to the spirituality which is taught, illustrated, and demonstrated in the life of which Christ Jesus was the embodiment" (p. 333).

Chicago Woman Paints Picture of her Family as They Get Ready To Set Out On Short Vacation Trip to Antioch Lakes

Home is no place to hold a family together.

This is the conclusion the McLaughlin family of 706 South Sacramento boulevard, Chicago, arrived at late last Thursday night.

The urge to go somewhere was strong in them, but the final decision to abandon the well-ordered household was not reached without many misgivings and some salesmanship.

Here's a picture of this family getting ready to set out for the week-end outing at Antioch, as it was painted by Mrs. McLaughlin.

Calls Off Date
The elder daughter, Mary, is nineteen, and is most dependent upon the society of contemporaries, according to her mother. She finally decided to be a good sport, however, and call off her date, in order to accompany the family to the lakes region. Bud is sixteen, and as it is not a habit with him to take anything for granted, he had to be persuaded at length.

Peggy, on the other hand, when her mother informed her of the plans for the week-end became breathless with the raptures of adolescence and was the most eager of them all to be off, but Bud didn't think much of her going, for he had his doubts about her ability to sit still long enough to get out to Antioch and to stand the company of grownups for a couple of hours.

Remembers Bridge Party
Even for Mrs. McLaughlin getting away wasn't so easy as she thought it was going to be, for just as they were starting to pack up, she suddenly remembered the Saturday evening bridge party to which she had been invited and the score of household duties that she would be leaving behind, but she decided to carry out her plans despite these obstacles.

Eleven o'clock found Mrs. McLaughlin and Mary in Mary's bedroom whispering their doubts about the compatibility of this assorted family of four all crowded together in a small car.

Goin' Vagabondin'
What settled it was a catchword from Bud, who came in to see what the conference was all about. "So we're goin' vagabondin' this week-end," he remarked. And that got them all. That's just what they were going to do.

Thinking about that fanciful word, "vagabonding," they hit upon their Big Principle. They would have no schedule. It wouldn't make any particular difference whether they got to Antioch at noon Friday or at six o'clock. They'd just take their time and enjoy the scenery enroute. They would take no foolish pride in speed.

Luggage-Luggage-Luggage
They started their trip right by not getting up before the usual hour to make an early start. By the time they had their car loaded, they were aghast at the amount of luggage they were taking. Fortunately, the car is equipped with one of those trunks containing two large valises. On top of it they set a big suitcase wrapped in an army blanket and handsomely tied it on with much rope. Bud, the ex-scout, took great pride in that job of knot tying; he strove not only for security, but also for neatness. "We don't want to look like tourists," he exclaimed.

What—A Guitar, too!
On the running board was one of those blessed racks in which were caged four sets of golf clubs and three handbags. Seven coats, three books, golf shoes, rubbers, two tennis rackets, a pair of field glasses, Peg's small camera, and most obtrusive of all, Bud's guitar in its vast misshapen case. (Not that they would hanker for music on the roadside.)

Miraculously, however, this profusion of luggage didn't rasp their tempers or break their spirits. "We managed to keep the four seats clear and leg room for at least two," Mrs. McLaughlin said.

Arrive Safe and Sound
Mary and Peggy seemed to take great delight in elevating their feet against the top of the front seat and once in a while they would place a gentle kick behind the ear of their mother, who did most of the driving on the trip. Bud, however, as a young man of dignity, preferred to keep his feet down, and this was the most fortunate thing in the world, according to Mrs. McLaughlin, who declared an extraordinary amount of paraphernalia was stowed between his lanky shins.

They arrived at Antioch all safe and sound in time for lunch and they are going to try this same stunt again next summer.

Has Troubles Enough Without Getting His Name in the Paper

"I want a bite to eat."
Such is the common cry of the transient as he walks into the stores in Antioch. While the majority of employed persons are taking off a week or so this summer, often without pay, to go on an inexpensive vacation trip, the army of the unemployed continues to circulate.

Last week the number stopping at this village to call on store proprietors or to appeal to the sympathies of the housewife or man on the streets was an increase over the number stopping the week before, according to business men and housewives.

Shies at "Work"
Often the transient is quick to give himself away as an habitual bum. He wants a bite to eat, but shies at the idea of going to "work" for it. The warm weather increase of transients there has brought not only the men who do work when there is work, but even more of the regular ravers.

"Where is your home?" the reporter asked one who stopped at an Antioch store for a loaf of bread.

"New York," he said. But he finally admitted he had not been home for six years. When asked if he would just as soon tell something about his life history for a story, he turned away and said he had troubles enough without getting his name in the newspaper.

Becoming More Numerous
The well-to-do Chicago residents who come to Antioch to enjoy the lakes in the summer time are not the only visitors from that city. Representatives of the Chicago unemployed are growing more and more numerous on the road. For a long time they have been waiting around Chicago to go back to work. Now, they say, there has been an influx of other unemployed from the south and from the smaller centers, all anticipating jobs in a larger city.

A man who offered to work at Twin Lakes until he had earned fifty cents to get his shoes soled told of this situation this week. Lincoln and Grant park in Chicago are literally packed with sleepers nightly, he said. "The population is getting so thick that the old-time Chicago park sleepers are touring the outlying districts for the rest of the summer."

Gas Heat ends all dirt, grime, labor, and drudgery

To prove that every home can afford to heat with gas...we will install it at our expense and remove it at our expense, if you don't like it.

GAS heat is this easy and simple! You don't need to go near the furnace. No shoveling coal, no hauling ashes, no setting dampers. No fuel supply to run low in zero weather. One touch of the thermostat, controls your heat perfectly, day and night.

But perhaps you say, "Yes, of course, I know gas heat is the perfect heat. But it costs too much."

New low costs for gas heat

Then here's great news for you. Gas heat now costs less than half what it did in 1930-31. A luxury priced for the majority. A wonderful convenience, now within your reach.

To prove it—and we take the full burden of proof—we'll install it in your home without your making one cent of investment.

During the nine heating months of the first year you pay $3.00 a month rental for the equipment in the average home. This charge will be included with your gas bill. And if for any reason during the first year you want it removed, we take it out and the rental charge stops immediately. Further, we replace your former heating equipment in the same or better condition than we found it. If you decide you want it, the rental applies on the purchase price.

Automatic gas heat promotes better health. No ups and downs of temperature which may start winter colds and coughs. No dust or grime to inhale. No odor. Gas heat saves cleaning bills and endless housework. Walls and paper stay clean year after year. Hangings stay up all winter long. There's no greasy smudge. No dirt-tracked stairs and rugs.

Offers Magic to Young
Collegiates and Their Sisters

Snuggles Is Prevailing Influence in Foundation Clothes

At this time of the year when young collegiates are being outfitted for their return to the campuses of colleges and universities, there's magic in the new loveliness which may be found in the lingerie departments of the stores. There's something contagious in the magic, for it catches the fancy of others besides young collegiates.

Loveliness, smartness and comfort in quantities, are perhaps the lot of only those who have an ever full purse. Yet the girl who shops carefully, without making blunders, or yields a needle in carefully chosen materials, can acquire an amazingly inspired collection of those inconspicuous essentials which so delight the feminine heart.

Fall fashions, this year, have inspired in the modes of the lingerie a comfort and practicality and suitability, to the styles of fall dresses, which has been lacking in lingerie fashions of other years. Clinging and wrinkleless are the adjectives which best describe the foundation garments which will be worn by those who most aspire to modernism.

Slips will be tailored, and as a result, a slip bought with the constant strap adjustment which proves such a nuisance. Each slip should be bought with a particular dress in mind so as to have slips of more than one length. But slips have changed little this fall, so they remain comparatively uninteresting.

Woven elastic has added interest to other types of foundation garments. This material, offering snugness and freedom at the same time, keeps its shape, and clings to the body as though it were an extra layer of skin. It can be purchased in vests and panties and brassieres and these snug little girdle combinations, easily tucked, requiring no ironing, it is the college girl's best bet.

Even pajamas have found an inspiration in this knitted-to-the-figure vogue, coming in an elastic knit which promises both snugness and warmth, and which, in soft flesh shades, is dainty as well as practical. Pajamas, because they are a traditional favorite with the college girl, become more artful at this time of the year than any other.

The old idea that dormitories and sorority houses are inhabited by creatures who float about at the bedtime hour, indulging in confidential chats, while garbed in confidential nightgowns and pajamas, created of lace and froth, was generally scrapped long ago, and it never had any foundation in truth. But that doesn't mean that the young coed has no weakness for the spectacular and picturesque in pajamas, for she has.

Long sleeved tailored models are an ever popular version among the college girls because they are practical, warm, and an entirely becoming costume for late study, or mid-night lunches on cookies "from home." These models this year have a Russian tendency with long blouses and tasseled sashes to tie about the waist. They come in attractive broadcloth prints which will wear nearly the entire four years of school.

Pongee styles with colored frogs cleverly used for trimming are an inexpensive type of pajama which will prove practical for the college girl. Pongee is not fuzzy, laundries simply, and in the tailored styles has a smartness all its own. Seersucker, in spectacular stripes, and plaids is another good guess along this line, and still another are the bright printed silks in tailored styles. Crepe, glove silk, and similar materials are smart, but they can't offer the comfort for all-around wear which is expected of college going pajamas. Lounging pajamas are an extra which will be almost a necessity to the girl who wears these less substantial garments for sleeping, and for the girl who is modern enough to prefer gowns, the lounging pajama is also the solution for the hours of relaxation.

Robes Have Graduated Robes, since they have graduated from the nondescript kimono, offer another point of fascination. Tailored moire, corduroy, flannel, in plain colors, stripes, and plaids, are the best to be found for all-around wear. One of the most clever robes being shown this year is made in the style of a coat dress, with a side closing, in a roman striped, light weight flannel with a green silk sash hanging long on the side where the robe closes.

Colors for the everyday robe are best limited to dark and bright shades. Black, deep purple, navy and marine blue, olive and Kelly green, reds, oranges, wine shades, and brown will offer a selection from which any girl can choose a favorite.

Wool Leads in More Elegant Fabrics Shown for Fall Wear

With the opening of a new season the question of fabrics is always interesting to every woman who makes any pretense of following the whims of fashion. Particularly interesting is it at the opening of the fall season when fabrics become more elegant than they have been during the summer.

Wool will be the predominant note in this winter's fashions, for it's being shown already in sports, street and even afternoon clothes. But it's not the same wool as in other years—at least not in all cases. Rabbit's hair and angora which were new last fall, are continuing to be popular this year. Rabbit's hair is especially popular in the better dresses where it has a soft, silk-like surface.

Along with the rabbit's hair and angora of last year, jersey is making a bid for greater popularity than it has enjoyed for several seasons. Seen in bright colors, in dashing sports dresses, it is as attractive as ever.

A spongy texture characterizes most of the newer fabrics, although not all. Many of the materials have an attractively nubby surface. Others are smooth and have the appearance of a long haired jersey. A wide wadded fabric which resembles corduroy, promises to stay in the front ranks of fashion during the cold weather.

One attractive fabric combines a smooth surface with an embroidered polka dot and is lovely. Others are so sheer as to be transparent in unadorned weaves.

Flowered silk, plain crepes, satins and bright cottons are good choices for a light weight negligee. In the case of a cotton robe, matching it with pajamas will make an attractive ensemble. These matched robes and pajamas may be effected in other fabrics as well.

Shall I See Mules? Boudoir slippers are always more or less a matter of choice. Mules are an anathema to one woman while to another they are viewed with extreme partiality. Practically is a more important consideration in the college girl than to her working or married sister, for college life demands that individuals live together in groups, with as little friction as possible entirely unhampered by the conventions of family life, but exposed to the constant danger of irritating and disturbing others in the group. Mules in a dormitory where there are many fights of stairs, will be an unwelcome interruption during the study hour as they tap audibly down the halls and up and down stairs. Hard soled dorsays are a better choice than the mule for all-around wear when the wearer does a good deal of living in her "relaxation" clothes.

Hose are another extra which belong to this class of clothing even though they are not among the "inconspicuous" garments. Hose should be bought by the college girl with an eye on the colors with which they will be worn, and another eye on their wearability. If the wardrobe runs to greens and blues and browns, the hose may be bought mainly in one shade with a slightly different shade in those extra sheers for best. If the wardrobe runs to blacks and blues, a color should be chosen with care which will be the right tone for wear with those colors and the color of the shoes.

Nothing is more fascinating to the college girl than being outfitted, even when the outfitting must be limited because of a very restricted budget. Cleverness with the needle when there is little money to spend on the extreme, will send any girl to college with an enviable collection of lingerie and other accessories.

PICKLED PIQUANCY

If spice is one of the desirable ingredients of life, equally as much so is it a desirable ingredient or dish for the table. Relishes can change an array of ordinary foods to a clever combination, and no relish is as satisfying to the winter appetite as pickles.

Pickles come in 101 varieties if the housewife has the time to experiment with that many. Probably she hasn't time to can more than a few varieties for her own table. Of the many varieties these recipes below offer the most popular pickles for ordinary occasions.

Green Tomato Pickle
1 quart green tomatoes
1 medium head celery
2 sweet red peppers
2 green peppers
2 large mild onions
1 small head cabbage
3 cups vinegar
1 pound brown sugar
1 teaspoon ground mustard
1 teaspoon turmeric
Chop or grind vegetables, cover with $\frac{1}{2}$ cup salt and let stand overnight. In morning drain and press in cloth to remove all liquor possible. Add remaining ingredients and simmer until clear. Seal in sterilized jars. A perfect seal is not necessary.

Bread and Butter Pickles
25 cucumbers, medium size
8 cups water and vinegar, half and half
1 teaspoon alum
10 small white onions
3 $\frac{1}{2}$ cups sugar
2 teaspoon each of celery seed, turmeric and mustard seed
1 pint water.

Wash cucumbers thoroughly and slice them, unpeeled, into 1-inch slices. Add second two ingredients and allow to come slowly to boiling point. Remove from the fire and allow to stand half an hour. Drain cucumbers and pack them in sterilized jars. Add the onions which have been washed and peeled to a quart. Mix last six ingredients, bring them to the boiling point. Let boil 1 minute and pour over the cucumbers in jars. Seal jars immediately. Makes five quarts.

Watermelon Pickles
1 quart vinegar
4 cups brown sugar
1 stick cinnamon
1 tablespoon whole cloves
2 quarts watermelon pieces.
Remove green rind and trim off red part. Cut into 2-inch pieces. Sprinkle with salt and let stand overnight. Rinse and steam until nearly done. Drain. Put into boiling syrup made of above ingredients and boil until clear. Put into jars and boil syrup down thick before pouring over pieces.

Variations: — Citron rind, cantaloupe rind or the white of cucumbers may be pickled this way.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By ANN PAUL

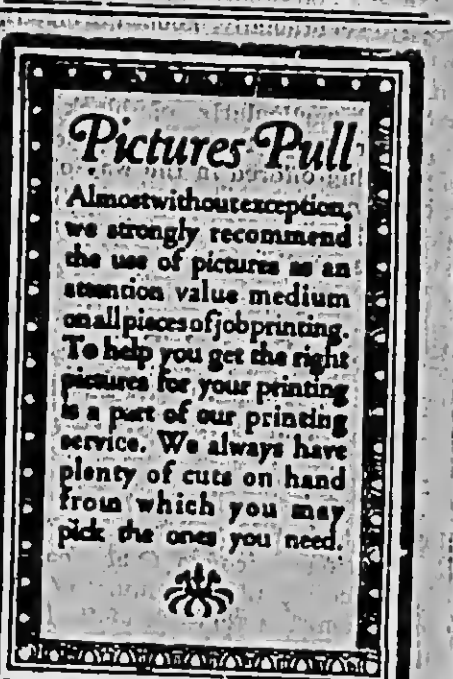

THE severe storms which wrecked gardens and destroyed the home-grown produce of the eastern seaboard will not seriously affect this district where home grown fruits and vegetables share the markets with such far western specialties as peas and lettuce. The lettuce and tomato salad is a favorite of which we do not easily tire, but for variation, fruit or combination fruit and vegetable salads are much appreciated. That old favorite, Waldorf salad, combining apples, celery, and walnuts with salad dressing, can be pleasantly varied at this season when nuts are scarce by substituting sliced pinto or stuffed olives for the walnuts. The salad should always be marinated in French dressing or slightly sweetened lemon juice.

A popular fall vegetable in the market is cauliflower and is very welcome as the weather grows cooler. Here are the usual menus from the Quaker Maid Kitchen.

ELECTION EXPENSES

There was quite a fight for the important office of poundmaster in a small New England town during the recent campaign. Obadiah Skinner was put up by the party in power and a campaign fund of $300 was raised for him to expend. Notwithstanding this corruption fund, Obadiah was defeated and the enemy got in. After the election his friends took him to account and asked him how he could have spent so much money on his campaign without winning.

Obadiah remarked: "Well, seeing that the office only pays $150 a year, I thought it was a waste of good money to spend $300 getting it, so I bought a little farm instead."

TRAFFIC TROUBLES

Traffic accidents in the United States in 1931 took a toll of $3,500 deaths and injured more than 1,000,000 persons. The National Conference on Street and Highway Safety estimates the economic loss from these accidents at more than $9,000,000,000.

Cities considering dimming their street lights as a means of cutting down municipal expenses can profit by Detroit's experience. Detroit tried to save money this way for the first ten months of 1932 but crime and accidents increased so much that the lights have been restored to their former glow. Fatal night accidents increased nearly 25 per cent.

Good Weather Is Expected to Bring Crowds for Holiday

With the five day week a reality for many families in the Metropolitan area, and a Century of Progress already an old story to most of Chicago, Antioch merchants are placing their hopes in the weather for a prosperous week-end and Labor Day. Indications point to a better holiday crowd than was seen around this lake area on Memorial Day and Fourth of July, as this holiday falls on a Monday, making it a three day vacation period, and the N. R. A. code has given many city people additional leisure. Business has been generally slow for the past week, with few people out last week-end, which is considered a good omen for this next week as the holiday celebrators generally will stay home the week preceding a general rush for the resort section. Weather conditions throughout the month have been favorable to vacationists, and pleasant weather has favored Labor Day nearly every year in the past. Because it is considered the close of the resort season, the fall holiday finds dance halls and resort operators and merchants putting forward every effort to entertain and please visitors. Fishing, ranking along with golf as a popular sport for the day, has been exceptionally good during the past few weeks, numerous fishermen in this locality reporting excellent catches particularly of black bass. Labor Day, because of the new deal being offered in the way of additional employment through the industrial recovery act, takes on new significance this year.

Camp Chi Girls Tell News They Prefer Antioch

That there are few murders committed here, that it is a healthful place in which to live, and that its residents are good people are the reasons advanced by a group of Camp Chi girls, who yesterday paid a visit to the office of the News, for preferring Antioch to Chicago. Making up the group, all of whom are high school girls, were Goldie Fine, Lillian Ashner, Duckey Alt-schuler, Blackie Schultz, and Susie Gershon. Duckey being the only one who hadn't had the opportunity of being out here seasons previous to this one. The daily program at Camp Chi, which these girls have enjoyed immensely, follows: Got up at six forty-five; set up exercises; flag raising; breakfast; clean up cabins; assembly; boat rowing or first aid; swimming; free period; dinner; rest hour; class in handicraft; swimming; free period; flag lowering; supper; evening activities; stunts, masquerade, or dancing; treasure hunt; sing lads; wash; and go to bed. The entire group of 110 will return to Chicago on September 4 to make preparations for the entering of school the middle of the month.

Put First Things First, Dr. Nolan Advises Students

"In trying to adjust yourselves and to order your community living to demands of the present time, you certainly ought to put first things first," Dr. A. W. Nolan advises high school students in an article which he recently prepared for publication. Among the things which Dr. Nolan recommends to be placed first and to be sought by every possible means to hold fast are the material essentials of life, protection from evil, peace of mind, good things to think about, happiness, work, play, and religion. Each human being, according to this authority, must come under the scrutiny of the search light of inquiry "and thus the high school must be placed under the spotlight," Dr. Nolan declares. "Schools and teachers are not tax-eaters and pay-rollers. They are producers of economic goods as well as an intellectual, social, and moral asset to the nation. Schools are as essential to our civilization as congress, business, or the police force. They are the underpinnings and steel support of good government. Without our public school we have no guarantee of the permanency of our democracy." Among the activities of first importance which are carried on in the public school we have no guarantee of the permanency of our democracy.

Business School Takes Six Major Awards at Chicago Competition

Lake College of Commerce, Waukegan, took five major prizes in the International Commercial contests held recently at A Century of Progress when five students of the school successfully competed. First place in bookkeeping was awarded Elden Dunn, a student of the school, and seconds in shorthand, typing, general proficiency in writing Gregg shorthand and for largest number of points earned. Students from New York and Chicago were entered in the competition as well as from other schools over the country. The school is supervised by a firm of certified accountants, Paul Pettengill and Co.

Col. Smith Honored by Chicago GOP Group

Col. A. V. Smith, former Lake County state's attorney, was honored at a picnic and rally held Sunday at Ray Peregizer's resort on Fox Lake by the Forty-seventh Ward G. O. P. Bonsters Club of Chicago. Col. Smith stated that the picnic was held because of friendships and not as a forerunner of an announcement of his candidacy for congress.

Declares Milk Code Is Constitutional

Justice Daniel W. O'Donoghue of the District of Columbia Supreme court Tuesday dismissed a suit for a temporary injunction which would restrain Secretary Wallace from enforcing the Chicago Milkshed agreement, and declared the milk code of the agricultural adjustment act constitutional. All dealers, under the code, will be required to charge 10 cents a quart for milk. Milk producers are asking that the price paid them be raised in the code.
